A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-feed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

To sow light, shrunken, poorly developed seed is offering a premium for light yields; and to sow weed with it, is inviting diseater.

Rats and mice have no right on the farm pension list. Get the caus to investigate their claims. Some say the hopper, dry feeding system with poulty encourages the rats. Better watch.

Do not experiment with new wheats or other grains. Our stations are doing that for us, and when they do not recommend a grain, we should go very slow in believing the big stories told about it by interested venders.

Two years ago the Michigan Leg-islature appropriated $70,000 as re-wards to counties building good roads, the basis being $1,000 for stone, the counties paying the balance. The the counties paying the balance. The tund has all been expended, a population will probably appropriate $150,08st this year. The average annual grain crop of the world is estimated at nine thous-and million beahels, and it is doubt-tul whether a werniteth part of this that at any one date, so that at any one date, so that at any time and the sound of the balance of the sound of the sound of the sound apply would in default of a renewal not last much more than a forthinght. Did you ever stand in the golden sunlight of a warm day with your eyes turned upon a sheet of fly paper? It so you may have noticed how when one fly adheres to the sitchy surface, its companions, instead of profiting by the horrible warning, immediately buzz down and go to destruction in the same manner, and in a little time there are hundreds in the throes of death. They are fools, to be sure, and so are men. Men see their associates caught in the nests of vice. There are examples and warnings all about human beings, but they treat them as lightly as do flies and step down to death just as lostantly. sececececec

THE CAPPENTE'S SON.

Therety conturies ago there appeared upon the earth a child of lowly birth. Not in a palace, not even in a home of ordinary appointments, but in a manger, thus child first beheld the light of day. The child grew, developed, and gave promuse of a wonderful career. CHANGE.

The secret of happiness is constant change within the limitations of reason and common sense. A rut in the human soul is like a rut in the road, dangerous and upsetting. If ye we must remain at the same tasks year after year for nearly the whole of a life-time, then it should be our constant effort to get all the variety we can loto our lives in other ways. The fact that farmer's wrea go insame more than any other class of the constant of the lives, which, are one unceasing round of hard work. A machine bearing on a single point of the lives, which are one unceasing round of thought lives. One dull round of thought doing the same tasks at the same hour year after year, will break down the finest, strongest brain. So get out and have a vacation of thought. Read new things; wall along fresh roads; look at new pictures and new bouldings. Invite fresh new thought always to your soul; so shall you keep always young. Be not, so mare that your fondest theory is exactly the correct.
